Chick,

Yes, I'm in Boston at the Cambridge Marriott. I got in yesterday feeling great, but woke up vomiting.. I hope I'll be feeling better by tomorrow, although this morning I just keep feeling worse and worse. I'm going to try to stay hydrated and see how that helps. I'll keep you in the loop as the day goes on.

It looks like I only have registrations #9 through #24. I'm not sure if it just started at 9 or I'm missing registrations for some reason. I'll reach out to that group of people. I know how much it ticks me off when the faceless speaker no shows for something without explanation, so I want to make sure I communicate with them.

Hey Mike,
Doing the workshop tomorrow would be fine. The other workshop we're doing in afternoon.

Do you think you'll be OK by then? Are you already in Boston?

We'll announce it but if you want to let the attendees know that what you're doing that would be good.

Chick

Hi,

I have unfortunate news. I woke up really sick and will not be able to run the Wearables workshop this morning. Would it be possible to tentatively move my workshop to tomorrow?

Please let me know. If I do not hear back by 8am I plan to reach out to registered attendees of the workshop to let them know that I will not be hosting it this morning. I believe that I have most, if not all of the email addresses of the registered attendees.

I apologize for the inconvenience and stress this may cause.
